What?

The United Nations Environment Programme Finance Initiative (UNEP FI) is a global partnership between the United Nations and more than 250 firms from across the global financial services sector.

The AMWG is a group of 12 UNEP FI member firms implementing this mission within the fund management industry.

AMWG projects are purposely small with a focus on delivering meaningful results to the financial sector.

The group benefits from CEO level involvement, collaborative decision making, international representation, the combined financial leverage of its firms within the capital markets, and the support of the United Nations.

Mission
Integrate relevant environmental, social and governance criteria (ESG) into financial sector operations.

Work
- Sector-specific financial analysis of ESG criteria.
- Engagement with institutional investors.

Why?

There is increasing scrutiny by regulators and the investing public as to the adequacy of investment research and decision making with regard to issues such as corporate governance, environmental performance and labour practices.

A group of fund managers who are members of UNEP FI have constituted an Asset Management Working Group to explore whether these considerations are sufficiently incorporated in asset management.

Their purpose is to explore and document the materiality of environmental and social considerations and criteria as they relate to the portfolio management of mutual funds, pension funds and other institutional funds.

The group’s institutional clients are increasingly interested in and asking for approaches to asset management that explicitly include such extra-financial criteria or metrics where they are or may become relevant to the investment decision.

Funds controlled by the world’s governments are also increasingly requiring attention to environmental and social considerations in how these funds are managed.

While there is increasing pressure to address these issues in the investment decision process, there has been little consideration given as to how mainstream providers of financial research currently or potentially could incorporate these factors into their research and valuation of equities.

The AMWG members are therefore working with major stock brokerage firms, institutional investors, and other fund managers to develop the institutional skill sets that will enable them to efficiently respond to these issues.
