Your input on the next phase of the PRB: Join the first membership webinar on PRB 2030

As the PRB marks its 4-year anniversary this year, it is the critical moment to assess how the sustainable banking community has progressed since the launch of the framework and to define common guidance and milestones for signatory banks to deliver on the commitments made and targets set by 2030. Next week will see the first webinar on the PRB 2030 - the next phase of the PRB's work - where 27 banks from around the world forming part of the Core Group leading this process will present the objectives, background and the envisioned outcomes of the PRB 2030. Join us on 10 or 11 July to find out how you, as a signatory bank, can engage and help shape the PRB journey and the global standard for sustainable banking going forward.

5 July 2023 | From niche to norm: the call to mainstream impact management

Last week, the partners of the Impact Management Platform launched The Imperative for Impact Management, a thought piece that sets out the case for impact management. Join us this Wednesday for a rich discussion on this new resource. Register here

10 July 2023 | Common Framework of sustainable finance taxonomies for LAC

Next week, UNEP FI and partners will launch the Common Framework of Sustainable Finance Taxonomies for Latin America and the Caribbean. It will establish a set of guiding principles that will improve comparability and ensure interoperability of sustainable finance taxonomies in the LAC region and internationally while considering local specificities. The pioneering guidance will serve as a reference to orient LAC member states that are in the process of, or intend to, develop sustainable finance taxonomies. Read more and join here
